The Scenario Editor shortcut created by the Gallic Wars installation program is not functional. Clicking it causes a program execution error. The problem is with the shortcut itself, not the Scenario Editor program (which works fine when run directly). Therefore this correction is optional, for users that want the convenience of being able to use the shortcut instead of clicking the Scenario Editor EXE file.

The shortcut is accessed by clicking "Start" then "All Programs", followed by "HPS Gallic Wars" and finally "Scenario Editor".

To correct the problem, a new shortcut must be created that replaces the old one. This shortcut file must be located in the "Program Group" folder. It is a straightforward process:

Step 15: Return to the original window. RIGHT-click anywhere on the file pane (the right hand side). Select "Paste" from the pop-up menu.

Step 16: A File Replace form should appear. Select "Yes". If the box did not appear, make sure that you are in the correct window.

Step 17: Finish up by closing the open windows and verifing that the procedure worked by clicking "Start", "All Programs", "HPS Gallic Wars" "Scenario Editor".
